REV. E. M. VITTUM, D. D.

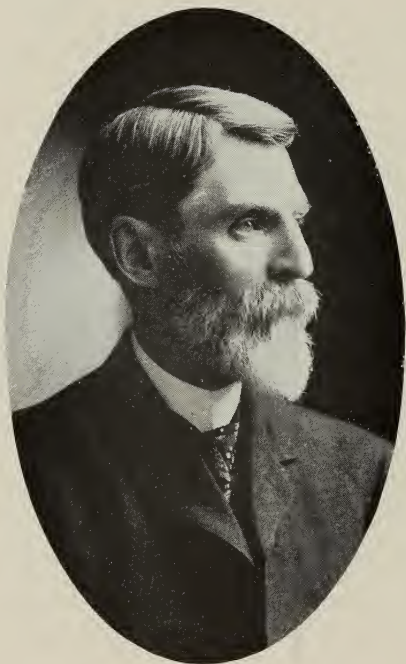

President-Elect of Fargo College

After searching for many months in an endeavor to find a man well qualified and fitted in every way to hold the position of head of Fargo College, the Board of Trustees have at last chosen Rev. E. M. Vittum, of Grinnell, Ia., to be the President of the College, and he has accepted the position. The committee has labored hard and long and the members have met with many difficulties and discouragements. Extreme care has been exercised in the selection of the president, the committee believing it was better to take time and secure just the right man.

In the selection of Mr. Vittum the committee was unanimous and the members express the belief that in him they have secured a president who will be able to do a great work for the College. Dr. Vittum, it is expected, will enter upon his duties as president of the local educational institution about January 1.

When the new President arrives he will find several important matters demanding his attention. Foremost among them will be the completion of Dill Hall, and the securing of a Carnegie library building for the College and a residence for the President. Members of the Board express themselves as being certain that the citizens of Fargo in general as well as all the friends of the College are to be congratulated that so able a man as Dr. Vittum has been secured to take the executive chair at Fargo College.

Edmund March Vittum was born in Sandwich, N. H., in 1855. His family records go back to the earliest Colonial days of New England, including English Puritans, Scotch-Irish, and French Huguenots. Two of his ancestors fought in Colonial wars, and three in the Revolution. As a boy he combined farm work with study, and finished his preparation for college at an academy in New Hampton, N. H. After teaching a year in the High school in Glover, Vt., he entered Dartmouth College, from which he graduated in 1878 (in the same class with Rev. E. H. Stickney, of Fargo, and Hon. G. E. Perley of Moorhead). He paid his way thru college by teaching and some manual labor, taking high rank as a scholar. He was a man of affairs and an athlete. He was a champion long distance runner, who won every race in which he contested during his college course.

After graduation he was tutor and professor of Mathematics in Robert College, Constantinople, Turkey. During the three years he spent abroad he traveled extensively in the Orient and in Europe. In 1881 he returned to America and entered Yale university, taking a course in theology, and graduate work in Philosophy and Science; also teaching in a private school in New Haven. He spent more than half of the year 1883 preaching in Stark county and the little Missouri region, where he saw some of the beginnings of our great state. Returning to Yale, he graduated with the degree of B. D. in 1884. He immediately became pastor of the First Congregational church of Guilford, Conn., continuing some studies at Yale in connection with his duties as minister. In 1888 he was called to the First Congregational Church of Cedar Rapids, where he remained until he was called to Grinnell, Ia., in 1891. During the fifteen years of his pastorate in this college town, he has received over 1,100 members into the church; and the church has made a net gain of 50 per cent. He has been a trustee of Iowa College, serving on the most important committees; for twelve years he has been president of the Public Library Board of Grinnell, and has served his community and the religious interests of his state in many ways. Mr. Vittum received the degree of A. M. from Dartmouth College in 1888, and the degree of D. D. from Iowa College in 1898.

He is fond of outdoor life, usually spending his vacation alone in the woods, tramping and camping among the New Hampshire mountains. He also reckons the writing of light literature among his recreations, having frequently contributed stories to periodicals, and having published several volumes of fiction. One of the latter is a North Dakota story, in which he has painted pioneer life as he saw it in 1883. Mr. Vittum was married in 1889 to Miss Annie Griswold of Guilford, Conn., who died in 1903. He has no children.

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS

Nearly a year ago it became known that Fargo College was to lose the services of Professor H. W. Fisk, for some time Acting Dean. It was felt then by friends of the College that the loss was a serious one, and that the selection of a successor would be no easy task. It is, therefore, extremely gratifying to report that the choice of the trustees has been most heartily sanctioned by all the co-workers of the present Dean.

Dr. F. E. Stratton comes to us from Carleton College. He was there fourteen years as Principal of the Academy, acting also as Instructor in Greek and much of the time had immediate charge of that department. His long term of service is sufficient indication of the character of that work and of the esteem in which it was held. He brings to his work here a ripeness of experience and a breadth of knowledge as an educator which it is easy to believe will be of lasting benefit to Fargo College. Adding to this a keenness of perception of her needs, a sincere sympathy with her ideals and a faith in her future, Dr. Stratton has made himself a part of the College to a degree that few men would have found possible.

It seems almost superfluous to speak of his work as a scholar in view of his later service. Suffice it to say that he is a graduate of Williams College, where he also took his Master's Degree. He received his Doctorate from Illinois Wesleyan, and has beside done graduate work in Harvard, and the University of Chicago. It is not too early to say that those who stand nearest him have already found him to be a wise, tactful leader, teacher and scholar of high order, a faithful co-worker, and best and highest of all, he is in every sense the Christian gentleman.

While we are all very sorry that Prof. John A. Moore could not return to us this year, we deem ourselves very fortunate in securing the services of Prof. William H. Partridge, who is carrying the History Department this year. Mr. Partridge took his Bachelor's Degree at Oberlin, O., in 1894. He was Instructor and Principal of the High School in Beloit, Wis., from 1896 to 1903. The following year was spent in study at Colorado College and at Oberlin where he secured his Master's Degree.

He was Instructor in the Rayen High School at Youngstown, O., in 1904-5. The summer of 1900 he was in Europe. Two summers he spent in graduate work in the University of Chicago, and last year was spent in graduate work in Europe at the Universities of Jena and Berlin.

Prof. T. L. Wanner who began his work with us this Fall, was stricken with fever and Miss Julia Langness has been secured to take charge of his work during his absence.

Miss Langness comes to us well fitted for her work. In 1896 she graduated from the Lutheran Normal School in Sioux Falls, S. D. She graduated at Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., in 1901, after which she taught Mathematics and Science for two years in the High School at Hopkins, Minn. She had taught about two years previous to her graduation. In 1903 she went to Philadelphia where she spent three years at the University of Pennsylvania in graduate study, receiving her Doctorate last June.

DILL HALL

Since the last issue of this bulletin, the exterior of the new building has been nearly completed. The structure has been named Dill Hall after Hon. M. T. Dill, the principal donor. Mr. Dill is a grain merchant of Prescott, Wisconsin, and until recently was an extensive land owner of North Dakota. The benevolence of this well-known philanthropist is very greatly appreciated by the friends and students of the College.

What it will be Used For

The much needed Gymnasium will occupy the third floor.

In the second story the Director of Athletics will have an office and class-room. The young men's Club Room will give them a place for holding Y. M. C. A. meetings, social gatherings and give such accommodations as will make the College more of a home to them. There will be first-class equipment for commercial students in the good sized study and class-room, the Typewriting and Shorthand rooms. Besides these, on the second floor there is one class-room not yet assigned. The Conservatory will occupy the first floor. It will contain an office, several studios, and eight practice rooms which can be made into sixteen if desired.

In the basement will be found three laboratories, toilet, locker and bath rooms.
